Dear Member,

The Marinalife Team is looking forward to an exciting 2009! This last year was difficult for most of us with the downturn in the economy and of course high fuel prices. We are now feeling a bit of a relief with lower fuel prices – any little bit helps.

We are so appreciative of the continued support of our members and partner marinas during this past year. We enjoyed talking to many of you throughout the year, comparing notes and keeping our pulse on the latest news and trends in the boating community. We definitely saw changes in 2008 boater trends, including boaters staying an increased number of nights at marinas. Boaters are also planning more. In fact, the Marinalife online reservation bookings increased dramatically since last year.

Marinalife has been hard at work in rolling out new features throughout the year to help you continue to boat actively. We added a fuel locator to help you find the cheapest fuel prices in your cruising area. We have also simplified the online reservation service and increased innovative partnerships with leading marine companies such as BoatU.S. to bring you more services at a discounted rate. In reaction to member feedback that marina facilities and amenities are now more important than ever, we've made finding the right marina even easier with our new quick find. Hundreds of marina reviews written by your colleagues are also available to help you make the best marina choice.

We will be rolling out several new features in early 2009. This includes an enhanced member profile which allows you to add your photos, share cruises and blogs, and connect with your fellow boaters. We will continue to add new discount partners and strategic partnerships with industry leaders.

Boater trends will come and go and times will continue to change but at the core of Marinalife is the guarantee that will always be driven to help you experience the unique yachting lifestyle we understand so well. Marinalife will continue to use a personal and proactive approach to make your boating experience enjoyable, stress free and fun.

Happy Boating!
